

Executive Biography

Dr. Trevor L. Hawkins

Global Head of HP 200A,
HP Inc.

As the past Director of the Human Genome Project for US. Department of Energy, Dr. Hawkins has built a recognized career in the healthcare industry over the past 25 years spanning business, academic innovation and as an entrepreneur.

Dr. Hawkins is currently the Global Head of HP 200A, a new Innovation Program focused on Healthcare application. Prior to joining HP, Dr. Hawkins was the Founder & Managing Partner at Coffee Shop Labs, a consulting and investment firm working with a portfolio of global companies such as General Electric, Northwell Health, Ping An, Google, Grifols, Ativa Medical, Data Cubed and BioElectron Pharmaceuticals. Dr. Hawkins is also a visiting professor at NYU.

Previously, Dr. Hawkins has held several senior executive roles at Siemens Healthcare, Philips and General Electric. He was also a successful entrepreneur building and selling a diagnostic company based in Shanghai & San Francisco.

Dr. Hawkins has published over 50 peer-reviewed articles on automation, genomics, human diseases and the human genome project in addition to writing a book, “Solving the Healthcare Equation” which is expected to be completed in 2021.