

James Wong

James is Co-Founder and CEO of Kapital Connection, a fintech company connecting small-and-medium-sized enterprises and financial institutions to secure financing via digital marketplace platform in Singapore, India and China.

Prior to founding Kapital Connection, James held financial services executive roles at HP, CIT and GE in Singapore, China and the US as regional and country leader, managing diverse businesses to support clients' funding needs.

Growing up in a small business family and having funded more than US$2B for companies, James appreciates the important role SMBs play in the society and founded Kapital Connection to help transform the banking industry to better serve SMBs through technology and business innovations.

James is an INSEAD Executive MBA candidate with an undergraduate degree in business from University of Wisconsin-Madison. He and his family are based in Singapore.
