Executive Biography

Joanna Burkey
Chief Information Security Officer, HP Inc.

Joanna and her team have responsibility for HP's global cybersecurity program, including for identity, governance/compliance, security operations, strategy/architecture and business alignment.

She has worked in cybersecurity for over 25 years, with her career having spanned a broad variety of roles including software engineering, product strategy, and security research.

Joanna is also a director at Overstock Inc (OSTK), an independent director at ReliabilityFirst Corporation, and a former fellow with the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington DC. She holds an NACD Directorship Certification from the National Association of Corporate Directors and is a certified Qualified Technology Expert with the Digital Directors Network. She studied computer science and mathematics at The University of Texas at Austin and Angelo State University. Joanna is based in Austin, Texas.